According to the Final Regulations-Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (Buckley Amendment) dated June 17, 1976, it is no longer necessary to obtain written consent to release records between schools. It states that school officials, including teachers within an educational institution and officials of other schools in school systems in which the student may intend to enroll, may receive a student's record without written consent for such release.

I reserve the right to revoke permission for release of information at any time through a written request.
